HALT COUNTER-ATTACK

Question Appears to Be Will The Germans Stop at the Old Hindenburg Line Where Extensive Fortifications Have Been Prepared.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
The British were again moving forward today toward the Hindenburg line in the one sector
where they are still some distance from it near the center of the allied battle front. Some progress was made during the night in the Vermand region where Field Marshal Haig's forces are closing in upon St. Quentin from the north while the French are pushing up from the south.

Further north the British were reported today to have gained a foothold in the twin towns of Peziere and Epphey, two and one-half miles from the Hindenburg line opposite La Catelet. The Germans are resisting strongly here as this section of the line forms part of the defensive of Cambrai on the south. Their resistance in this sector is taking the form of strong counter attacks on Gouzeancourt just to the north.

Attack Americans.

With the American Army in France
Sept. 11—At 5:30 o'clock this morning the Germans began a heavy artillery attack on the Americans in the Vosges sector. Over 200 projectiles and many heavy caliber shells were used.

The second line of defense runs from the fort of La Fere to the strong hold of Metz, generally parallel with the Hindenburg line to the region
north of the Aisne and of distance varies from seven to twenty miles.
From Soissons north of the Aisne, it runs southeast, joining the old front from north of Verdun and continuing from there to Pangey on the Meuse river,
south of Metz.

There are secondary lines attached to this system, notably along the Es-caut river from Cambrai north to the valley of the Oise and Sierra and eastward from La Fere along the Sambre river north of Epinay. A third line of defense runs from the Meuse near Soissons then south-eastward to the confluence of the busin of Pierie which it protects from the west and south and joining the second line of Moeselle. There are secondary defense works to this line
also in the region of Vervins.

A fourth line as yet uncompleted,
is intended to furnish a further defense between the Escaut near the Belgian frontier and the Meuse at Givet.

BEAT OFF RAID.
With American troops in France, 5
p. m., Sept. 11—At 5:30 this morning
the Germans began a heavy artillery attack on the Americans in the Vosges region sending over some 200 projectiles from their nine guns and a thousand heavy shells. At 6:20 o'clock the enemy opened up a strong fire on the communication trunks.

Report from two of the observation
stations were that sixty Germans were seen entering their own lines with wounded but no reports from the French front lines had been received in this hour.

It seems probable the raid which developed after the artillery fire was broken off with casualties to the enemy.

English Advance.

London, Sept. 11—During last night
the British line was advanced slightly in the direction of Vermand, northwest of St. Quentin. Field Marshal Haig reported in his official statement today.

The Germans delivered a counter attack in the region of Escaut, St.
Quentin. It was repulsed in stiff fighting.

There was sharp fighting also at Gouzeancourt. The Germans were driven off except at one point where the British post remained in enemy position.

Capture Travey.

Paris, Havas agency, Sept. 11—The village of Travey, on the southern end of the main Hindenburg line, has been captured by the French, according to news received here. If the French can hold this town the important enemy position at La Fere, the northern defense of the St. Gobain Massif, two miles south of Travey,
will be virtually outflanked.

No Rest.

With French Army in France, Sept.
11—The rapidity of the splendid operation that rested on the initiative of the battle front, the Germans and drove them behind their defensive lines of 15 to 20 to recuperate their forces and reconstitute their shattered division is no longer the proper basis for calculating the need of progress. The allies are now in front of obstacles that do not appear on ordinary maps by which the general reader follows changes of the battle front. No map shows them in all their details, but strength is known of them to reconstruct them in a general way.

SOLDIER WRITES OF SCENES IN ENGLAND

Private Leo A. Brummond Gives Impressions of England in Letter Received Here.

AT FRONT IN FRANCE

Private Irving Molthrop Writes of Sights in France—Has Been Shifted About on Various Fronts of Front.

Impressions of England and descriptions of various scenes in the country are contained in a letter received here by Mr. and Mrs. C. F.
Brummond, 1124 South Cherry street
from their son, Private Leo A. Brummond. Private Brummond is with the 337th Infantry and recently arrived at Sedan, France, England, with a large unit of American troops. His letter follows:

"England, Aug. 19, 1918.—I know
you will be glad to hear that I am over here safe and sound and in the best of health. I sure did have some trouble, but I wasn't the only one,
so we didn't make much difference.
We are sure is some country as far as I have gone and am enjoying it very much. The houses are built altogether different than they are in the states. They are built all as one and made of brick.

"Every city we came to looked the same. It is a great country for railways, sheep, and I saw lots of them.
There also have nice big horses here.
Another thing I want to tell you is that we get all we want to eat and that is all we are looking for. We had a good welcome when we reached here, as they met us with a band and train. We also were served hot coffee at one of the stations where we stopped.

"All the people have gardens and use every little bit of ground they can find, so you see that America is not the only country that is raising all it's own.

"I have met quite a few boys from Janesville here but I didn't know who they were. One of them is a fellow by the name of Andrews. Fred Booth knows a few of them, and you can tell his folks that he is all right now, but was real sick on the boat. I guess it was only seasickness. Well, I suppose you got that message I sent you that we got from George, George V.
Well, decided to show the American to show them all how to fight.
And the war isn't going to last very much longer, either.

"We are now in a rest camp, and it sure does look good to see a lot of trees and green grass around. There are quite a lot of American soldiers here, too. The best part of it here is money. We are different from ours and all mixed up on it. I also have seen a number of Ford automobiles,
but most of them are right-hand drive, because over here it is 'go to the left' where we keep to the right.
It is funny to see everyone passing by on the left-hand side. The trains are very much like ours.
And the cars the same way. You have to get in from the side instead of the end and only eight persons can get into one compartment.

"PRIV. LEO A. BRUMMOND,
"Co. I, 337th Infantry."

Private Molthrop Writes.
Private Irving Molthrop writes of his experiences since arriving here in France in a letter received here by his mother, Mrs. Seth Apfel, 1211 Bennett street. His letter reads as follows:

"France July 30, 1918.—Just a few lines to let you know how all O. K.
I have arranged places again, so you see we are pretty difficult for me to get any mail. I haven't had any since I've been here, but I write regularly
just the same.

"I ran across another one of the boys on our company day before yesterday. He had been replaced in the first division so consequently I did not know what was going on in the old company. I am waiting to be replaced in some organization where I can settle down permanently. There are several of the boys from the home state who are with me, and all are wishing it the same thing. I hope it happens soon.

"This France sure is one beautiful country, no doubt of it. It is one of the prettiest places here—in the valleys with the winding rivers and the high hills overlooking them, many of them vine-clad, for as you many grapes are raised in this country, largely for the making of wine, which seems to be very plentiful. The people seem to go about its duties as if there were no war nor thought of it—just as peaceful as any place anywhere.

"PRIV. IRVING W. MOLTHORP."

INTERESTING PROGRAM GIVEN AT COUNTRY CLUB

What proved to be a most interesting program was given at the Country club on Tuesday evening.

The dinner, which was served at half past six, under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. V. F. Richardson in the large living room, to about sixty guests, was made most attractive with the electric lights and a hospital grade fire. The entertainment was given with music. Mrs. John Nichols sang two solo songs, "Bonnie, Sweet Bessie" and "Little One, a Crying," and Teresa's "Good-bye." She also responded with several encores. Mrs. Nichols possesses a voice of lovely quality and color, which she uses with a marked degree of skill. She is a favorite with the musical audiences. Mrs. H. E. Nichols of Madison gave two plaint poems, by S. A. Daley, "Da Lotta Boy," and "I, no, can marry both," and a group of war poems by Robert Frost, "Not to Fear, Mother's Son," and "In Flanders Field." Her second appearance before the Country club was received with an enthusiastic reception and responded with several encores. Her Italian group were especially enjoyed, with her clear and distinct pronunciation, which was heard in all parts of the hall. Mrs. J. L. Wilcox was the piano accompanist for the evening, her interpretation of the plaints of the out-of-town guests who attended were: Charles Caldwell of Nashville, Tenn., Mrs. Frank Leonard of Chicago, and Mrs. A. Edmonton of New Orleans.

A special preparation by each registrant along these lines will greatly facilitate the work of the registrars.

The office of D. W. North, chief registrar will be open this evening for the accommodation of registrants who cannot be in the city on Thursday and for non-residents who wish to send cards to their home boards and for any information that may be desired in regard to registration.

Mrs. J. E. Miller was called to Chicago to see the death of a brother.

A number of Edgerton democrats were at Clinton last evening to hear Mr. Hochelipah who is candidate for governor.

Frank Pringle was a Chicago business caller during the week.

The rain of last night caught most of the tobacco growers with tobacco down. However the rain was not heavy enough to flood the tobacco and did very little damage.

Private Melvin Shaw, who has been stationed on the Mexican border is in the city at the home of his parents on furlough.

Messrs. Lee and Neil Wanamaker of Sturbridge guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wanamaker.

Mrs. J. S. Miller and children of Madison are spending the week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Pomeroy. Mr. Miller is at Milwaukee assisting with the state work.

The material for the office files has been delayed but as soon as it arrives the local office will need the aid of a large number of volunteers, workers who can operate typewriters and copy-card machines. Much of this work will be done at home and done there. Volunteers will also be needed to assist in the campaign headquarters during the process of the drive. There will be jobs enough for everyone, and those who are able to assist are urged to phone the Women's Chairman, Mrs. H. A. Ford, or the City Chairman, Mr. A. P. Lovejoy.

MYERS THEATRE

A GOOD-FOR-NOTHING HUSBAND.

If it is true that each hearty laugh drives a nail out of our coffins then those that do not see "A Good-For-Nothing Husband" which is coming to the Myers theatre, Sunday, Sept. 15, matinee and night, will be in rather a bad predicament on the arrival of the Grey Peacock, as "A Good-For-Nothing Husband" was created for laughing purposes only, and it fulfills its mission to the letter. Yet there is one drawback to "A Good-For-Nothing Husband." By many it is claimed that the inelegant laughter in a performance makes the face weary. Whether this is an argument for or against "A Good-For-Nothing Husband" is a question. Supply your own opinion.

a tenor, not a baritone. Cover them like this—“tee-ray—tee-row.” Very good, Bosley,” complimented the Senator.

For two years Bosley Bokewitt was cultivating his tenor voice until Monsieur Swearoff heard him sing and said, “Monsieur, you are fit for him below.”

“My voice, sit on bass, very good bass. Let ME teach you,” and Bosley was so impressed with Frenchy talk

that he studied two more years with the Monsieur.

“Like those—sing low—Z—Bing—exclaimed the Monsieur.

BOYS ORGANIZE FOR MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Meeting at Y. M. C. A. Last Night Selects Teams to Campagna City and Boys in Local “Y.”

At a supper given last night at the Y. M. C. A., seventy boys were organized under Boys’ Secretary A. S. Phelps to aid in the membership campaign by enlisting the youth of the city in the local “Y.”

The boys were addressed by Secretary Phelps, Alexander E. Matheson and Secretary C. R. Bearmore, outlining their work in canvassing the city of Campagna, teams were selected and the following captains named for the various wards in the city: First, Kenneth Spoon and Roy Kell; second, Robert Jenkins and Henry Tall; third, Elliott Dobson and Sidney Bliss; fourth, Walter Lane and Chadwick Newman; fifth, Herbert Allen and James Crowley.

The boy teams will take care of all members of high school, grade school and employed boys. Special attention will be made to enrolling employed boys in the association, and a good list has already been secured.

The boys’ department of the Y. M. C. A. will be the center of great activity for the fall and winter. Besides the regular boys’ secretary, a physical director has been engaged and the boys will be given athletic training. Plans are now being formed by Secretary Phelps for the fall and winter program, and arrangements have been made for a boy’s circus and a minstrel show.

The Daily Novelette

A TOTAL WRECK

Bosley Bokewitt had a fine voice. He sang baritone in church and at concerts for many years and got away with it, but he had the operas of something higher than that?

Of course, he’d give up his business of pinching holes in Swiss cheese and selling springs for ten-cent collar buttons.

So he persuaded Senor Lungoff to give him vocal lessons at twenty planks a lesson—one a week. It was very kind of the Senor and Bosley certainly was grateful to the great teacher.

PETEY DINK—WHY BLAME PETEY BECAUSE THE HAT FELL OFF THE WAGON?

Carolyn of the Corners

By RUTH BELMIRE ENDICOTT

"To 17" Carolyn May returned, drawing nearer. "I'm glad I do. And I'm glad I sleep in what used to be her bed, too. It doesn't seem so lonesome."

"So? I reckoned you'd be lonesome up there at The Corners," said the carpenter.

Mr. Parlow stripped another shaving from the edge of the board he was jumping. "And do you give 'em to 'em?"

"Most always," admitted Mr. Parlow.

"Oh! Can I have some?" she gasped.

"All you want," said Mr. Parlow.

When Tim's old back crawled along the road from town with Aunty Rose sitting inside, enthroned amidst a multitude of bundles, Carolyn May was bedecked with a veritable wig of long, crisp curls.

"Well, child, you certainly have made a mess of yourself," said the housekeeper. "Has she been annoying you, Jeddith Parlow?"

"She's the only Stagg that ain't annoyed me since her mother went away," said the carpenter gruffly.

Aunty Rose looked at him levelly. "Wunner," she said. "But, you see, she isn't wholly a Stagg."

This, of course, did not explain matters to Carolyn May in the least. Nor did what Aunty Rose said to her on the way home in the hot, stuffy hack help the little girl to understand the trouble between her uncle and Mr. Parlow.

"Better not let Joseph Stagg see you so friendly with Jeddith Parlow. Let sleeping dogs lie," Mrs. Kennedy observed.

CHAPTER V.

A Tragic Situation.

Such was the introduction of Carolyn May to The Corners. It was not a very exciting life she had entered into, but the following two or three weeks were very full.

Aunty Rose insisted upon her being properly fitted out with clothing for the summer and fall. Carolyn May had to go to the dressmaker's house to be fitted and that is how she became acquainted with Mrs. Gormley's mother.

Mrs. Gormley was helping the dressmaker and they both made much of Carolyn May. Aunty Rose allowed her to go for her fitting alone—of course with Prince as a companion—so, without doubt, Mrs. Gormley, who loved a "dish of gossip," talked more freely with the little girl than she would have done in Mrs. Kennedy's presence.

One afternoon the little girl appeared at the dressmaker's with Prince's collar decorated with short, curly shavings.

"I take it you've stopped at Jed Parlow's shop, child," said Mrs. Gormley with a sigh.

"Yes, ma'am," returned Carolyn May. "Do you know, he's very lib'ral?"

"Lib'ral?" repeated Mrs. Gormley. "I never heard of old Jed Parlow bein' accused of that before. Did you, Mrs. Maine?"

Mrs. Maine was the dressmaker; and she bit off her words when she spoke, much as she bit off her threads.

"No. I never—heard Jed Parlow—called that—no!" declared Mrs. Maine emphatically.

"Why, yes," little Carolyn May said quite eagerly. "She gives me all the shavings I want. I—I guess folks don't just understand about Mr. Parlow," she added, remembering what her uncle had first said about the carpenter. "He is real lib'ral."

"It's a wonder to me," drawled Mrs.

"I Reckoned You'd Be Lonesome Up There at the Corners," said the Carpenter.

primping. Carolyn May's eager eyes followed that curling ribbon and her lips parted.

The carpenter paused before pushing the plane a second time the length of the board. "Don't you want a drink of water, little girl?" he asked.

"Oh, yes, sir—I would. And I know Prince would like a drink," she told him quickly.

"Go right around to the well in the back yard," said Mr. Parlow. "You'll find a glass there—and Mandy keeps a ton on the well curb for the dogs and cats."

"Thank you, I'll go," the little girl said.

She hoped she would see Miss Amanda Parlow, but she saw nobody.

She went back to the door of the carpenter shop and found Mr. Parlow still busily at work,

"Seems to me," he said, in his dry voice, after a little while, "you aren't much like other little girls."

"Aunt 17" responded Carolyn May wonderingly.

"No. Most little girls that come here want shavings to play with," said the carpenter, quizzically eying her over his work.

"Oh!" cried Carolyn May, almost

Physician Explains Who Should Take Nuxated Iron

Practical Advice on How to Help Build Up Great Strength, Energy and Endurance.

Commenting on the use of nuxated iron as a tonic, strength and blood builder by over three million people, Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (of Dr. Roosevelt), New York, and The Westchester County Hospital, said:

"The blood not only makes a man a physical and mental machine, nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, but it is only that virile force, that stamina and strength of will which so often express success and power in every walk of life."

It may also transform a beautiful, sweet-tempered woman into one who is cross, nervous and irritable, and down in the dumps. So with plenty of iron in your blood you may still be young in feeling, full of life, your whole being glowing over with vim and energy."

The accompanying article of Dr. Sullivan should be carefully read by every man and woman who wants to possess perfect health, great physical endurance and mental alertness. Dr. Sullivan tells how to increase the iron in our blood and thereby gain greater physical and mental power, brighter intellects and better health.

But in my opinion you can't make strong, vigorous, successful, sturdy iron men, and healthy, strong, courageous women by feeding them on metallic iron. The old forms of metallic iron are too tough a digestive process to transform them into organic iron.

Nuxated iron, however, is better because it is ready to be taken up and assimilated by the human system. No one can eat all that has been said and written on this subject by well-known physicians, thousands of people, and I can assure you, it is simply impossible, because it costs a few cents less. I strongly advise readers in all cases to follow the physician's prescription for organic iron.

Nuxated iron is the great necessity of their weak, anemic, rundown patients. Thousands of persons go on year after year suffering from a lack of iron in their blood, and in many nervous conditions due to lack of sufficient iron in their red blood corpuscles, without ever realizing the real and true cause of the trouble.

It is a well-known fact that you merely pass through the body something like corn through an old mill with rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind.

For want of iron you may be an old man at thirty, dull of intellect, poor in memory, nervous, irritable, and down in the dumps. So with plenty of iron in your blood you may still be young in feeling, full of life, your whole being glowing over with vim and energy."

one who wants to possess perfect health, great physical endurance and mental alertness. Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (of Dr. Roosevelt), New York, and The Westchester County Hospital, said:

"The blood not only makes a man a physical and mental machine, nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, but it is only that virile force, that stamina and strength of will which so often express success and power in every walk of life."

It may also transform a beautiful, sweet-tempered woman into one who is cross, nervous and irritable, and down in the dumps. So with plenty of iron in your blood you may still be young in feeling, full of life, your whole being glowing over with vim and energy."

MORRIS MILLER

There are a lot of mighty interesting facts concerning the players in the world series which are not included in the usual mass of statistics and dope printed. The real fan likes this unusual dope. Here's a little of it.

Amos Strunk was listed as a player in the 1914 series, but the extent of his playing was to run for pitcher rounds in the next to the last game.

Stuffy Melvin's only claim to fame in the 1912 show was a put out when he played first in the ninth inning of the last game after two were out.

Tyler pitched one game in the 1914 contest and Hulke Gowdy saved the day for him by getting the score with a home run. Bill James pitched the rest of the game and Boston won out.

Tuth's greatest pitching feat in the grand finale was performed two days ago when he won a 14-inning game from Sherron Smith of the Browns.

Private Arthur Wells of Camp Grant spent Saturday night and Sunday at his parental home here.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. McCoy spent Sunday at Clyde McCoy's in Evansville.

Weekly A. C. prayer meeting will be held at the Wm. Woodstock home. Helper's Union meets Thursday with Mrs. George Townsend.

School began this morning at the corners with Miss Nina Worthing as teacher.

A. C. Sunday school monthly session will be held at the parsonage Friday evening. A large attendance is desired.

Miss Ada McCoy of Evansville WIS., spent Sunday and Monday with her aunt, Mrs. T. M. Harper.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Wells entertained at dinner Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Harper and son and Miss Ada McCoy.

There will be plenty of work at the Red Cross rooms Wednesday and you are needed. Don't let the war news make you forget your obligations at all.

Extracts from a letter written by George Scott of the U. S. Navy Aug. 25, 1918:

Dear Father and Mother:

This is a fine day and the water is unusually smooth. I feel like doing something, so will write. We are six days from New York if nothing happens.

Got our first news of the war over the wireless this morning. The operator had it typed out and sent down to us. I am not about as we can wait news from New York. The operator played, as we have noted before.

Melvin's wonderful catch saved the 1912 series for the Sox.

His home run won the deciding battle three years ago.

He scored 6 runs and made 23 hits in his three series game to this year.

He won every series in which he played, as we have noted before.

Melvin, in nine games in previous series, obtained only four hits.

Elliott Scott obtained only three hits in 10 contests.

Last spring there was a possibility that the International league wouldn't start the 1918 season. This was one of the reasons which prompted Nap Lajoie to leave the management of the pennant-winning Toronto team to become head of the Indianapolis A. A. team. It looked also, as though war would call many of Toronto's stars and the majors would help depleted the club's roster.

Toronto recently capped the 1918 pennant in the International which continued through a full season. The American Association, however, are A. A. team. It looked also, as though war would call many of Toronto's stars and the majors would help deplete the club's roster.

The American Association, however, are A. A. team. It looked also, as though war would call many of Toronto's stars and the majors would help deplete the club's roster.

A pretty fair team could be made up of American leaguers who have enlisted or been drafted since the season started. Four pitchers there would be: Huber, Morris, Morris, Stocker, Shantz, Keeler, Keeler, Lannin and Mitchell. Pieper would have to do all the catching. The infield has as members Wally Pipp at first base, Eddie Collins at second, Bill Wamberg at short, McMillin at third, with Huber as utility.

Ty Cobb, Harry Heilmann, Elmer Miller and Tilly Walker would make a very fair outfit.

Toronto's victory in the International league race was a close one.

The Canadian team won the pennant by winning a doubleheader on the closing day, beating Binghamton twice. One victory came in the twelfth inning.

The Chicago Cubs have broken even in four world's series without losing once. But that means nothing in particular as regards the present series.
